MONOLITH

Expressive Texture.
Freedom of Presentation

The SlateStone series from the Monolith collection captures the character of natural stone through its deep black colour and expressive surface texture. Its distinctive aesthetic is particularly striking in contemporary restaurant settings, creating a strong contrast that allows the food itself to take centre stage.

The series offers a wide range of shapes and sizes, including flat and deep plates, bowls, oval platters, sauce boats, two- and three-compartment platters, serving platters, and steak plates. This variety provides chefs with endless possibilities for creative plating while maintaining a cohesive visual identity.

Particular attention is drawn to the series' unconventional shapes, featuring expressive contours, embossed edges, and distinctive geometric forms. Among the new additions are pieces with an irregular rim reminiscent of a cracked eggshell. This distinctive detail adds character to the table setting and provides an original backdrop for presenting desserts, appetisers, and other gastronomic creations, offering chefs even more freedom in their plating.

The collection is complemented by a complete tea and coffee range, including cups in various sizes for tea, coffee, and espresso, as well as teapots, milk jugs, and sugar bowls. With a variety of shapes, sizes, and functions, the range allows the entire table setting to be brought together in the unified SlateStone aesthetic, from appetisers and main courses to desserts, tea, and coffee.
